The Indiana Arts Commission (IAC) is an agency of state government, and its funding comes from the Indiana General Assembly and the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA).

A core component to the Indiana Arts Commission's commitment to investing in the state's vibrant and rich arts and culture sector are grants, which support people and communities through arts organizations and arts projects.

Grant Award Amounts, Matching Funds and Grant Payment

Applicants recommended for funding will receive the full amount requested and are eligible to be paid in full at the beginning of the grant period provided they are in good standing and supply required information in a timely manner.

FY2026 Arts Project Support (APS) Funding Priorities

The IAC will continue to prioritize ensuring geographic access to arts opportunities across the state through funding the highest scoring eligible applications from each county in each of the IAC's 11 regions. The IAC will also consider other factors such as underserved geographies and applicant budget size in the determination of funding award recommendations, which are presented to IAC Commissioners for approval.

The majority of programming, services, or activities must take place in Indiana and serve and engage Indiana audiences and participants.
- All applicants must be in good standing with all of the following: the State of Indiana; the Indiana Arts Commission; the applicant's Regional Arts Partner; and the National Endowment for the Arts.

APS Eligibility Tool

All new and returning APS applicants are required to first answer some simple questions to find out if they can apply for the APS program before beginning an application. These questions are solely intended to help applicants determine whether they may be eligible to apply for APS. If an applicant's responses indicate eligibility, they will be able to access the application.

Access to the application does not guarantee final eligibility for the program. The IAC reserves the authority to deem an applicant ineligible at any point in the application process.

Colleges and universities as well as fiscally sponsored applicants are required to request access to the APS application following completion of the eligibility tool. Instructions on how to request access to the application are provided upon completion of the eligibility tool.

Use of a Fiscal Sponsor

Unincorporated nonprofit groups planning to produce a project ("project producers") may submit grant applications to the IAC through a fiscal sponsor. Pre-approval is required. Applicants who indicate the use of a fiscal sponsor in the eligibility tool will be directed to contact the IAC before accessing the application. The IAC reserves the authority to determine if an application qualifies as a fiscal sponsor project and if the sponsoring organization qualifies as a fiscal sponsor. Learn more about fiscal sponsorship here.

Use of Grant Funds

Eligible Uses of IAC Funds

Arts Project Support (APS) program grants support eligible expenses of a public-facing short-term arts project or arts activity(ies) which can include artist fees, program supplies, and facility rental.

Ineligible Uses of IAC Funds

IAC funds may not be used on food and beverage (including alcoholic beverages); cash awards or prizes (including gift cards); and fundraising costs and events. This is not an exhaustive list of ineligible expenses. Consult Requirements and Policies for Indiana Arts Commission Grantees for additional information on eligible and ineligible uses of IAC funds.

Evaluation Criteria and Review Process

Evaluation Criteria

Applications will be evaluated by how well they meet the following criteria:

- Project Quality and Planning (30%) – The extent to which project provides a quality artistic or cultural experience for the community; the project timeline is defined and aligned with the project description; the project has clear goals and there is a plan to measure project impact and effectiveness.
- Community Benefit, Inclusion and Accessibility (40%) – The extent to which the applicant can describe the community the project will serve; how the community will benefit from the project; intentional efforts to directly engage underserved populations; and that the project is accessible.
- Project Management (30%) – The extent to which the project team has relevant skills and knowledge to administer the project; and project spending is aligned with project description and goals.

Access the Evaluation Criteria.

Access the scoring rubric that will be used by application reviewers.

After all applications are reviewed, the IAC will establish a minimum score for funding eligibility.

Draft Review

Draft reviews by Regional Arts Partners are available to first-time applicants to the program and organizations who are not currently receiving funds from the IAC. Draft reviews consist of general feedback and suggestions around application completeness and clarity. To request a draft review, notify your Regional Arts Partner by the deadline listed below for the cycle for which you are applying, and they will review your still in-draft application. Do not submit your application if you'd like a draft review – leave it in draft for the review.

Draft Review Deadlines:

- Spring Application Cycle: February 24, 2025
- Fall Application Cycle: August 29, 2025

Final Eligibility Review

Post application deadline, applications receive an eligibility review to ensure the applicant is eligible to apply for the program and all required information was submitted. Incomplete or missing information may deem the application ineligible to advance to the review process.

Application Review*

Arts and cultural professionals, educators, artists, and other community members review and evaluate grant applications by how well each application satisfies the program's evaluation criteria. Later, IAC staff use reviewer scores and other factors such as geographic location in the determination of funding award recommendations, which are presented to IAC Commissioners for approval.

The review process is highly competitive, and not all applications are funded.

NEW FOR FY2026: There will be no panel meetings for the Arts Project Support program. Applicants will have access to reviewers' comments in the online grant system after award notifications have been made.

Grant Recipient Requirements

Final Report Requirements

Grantees will be required to report on their activity(s) at the end of the grant period. This reporting includes qualitative and quantitative information and an accounting of how IAC funds were used. Collected information is shared with the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) to determine trends and funding impact. Grantees should be engaged in participant tracking during the activity(s).

Final grant reports submitted after the due date may be subject to penalty. Read the Not in Good Standing policy.

Additional Requirements

IAC grants come with additional requirements such as acknowledgement of public funding. Consult Requirements and Policies for Indiana Arts Commission Grantees for additional information.
